For almost three years, Lesley Graves has helped PI firms transform themselves to become more profitable, through law firm Citadel Law, formerly ZL Consulting. Lesley began her career at Pannone more than 20 years ago, where she dealt with cases covering all aspects of personal injury litigation. She progressed to partner at Alexander Harris and thereafter, Irwin Mitchell, specialising in complex high value personal injury claims.

It was a consultancy role advising a law firm’s management board how to review their personal injury files that started Lesley’s ambition to help personal injury law firms develop and succeed in the face of competition and growing legislative change.
